Ms. Works responded to questions of clarification, and discussion took place, regarding overall coordination; a potential fair manager; the potential for identifying other sponsors; marketing; anticipated percentage revenue from vendors; entertainment; ticket sales; cost recovery; and Douglas County's involvement. In response to a further question, Ms. Works reviewed the various costs comprising the $75,000 figure.

Supervisor McKenna expressed the opinion that the requested $75,000 should be allocated from the Convention and Visitors Bureau, the Redevelopment Authority, "and possibly Douglas County." He expressed no opposition to approving the $75,000 "if there's a hundred percent chance of reimbursement from the Convention and Visitors Bureau and Redevelopment." He expressed the opinion that no general funding should be spent, and surprise that "City Hall is pushing this and not Convention and Visitors or Redevelopment or some private group." He expressed the opinion "it's outside the scope of City Hall." He discussed continued concerns regarding the economy, and requested that one hundred percent reimbursement, from other groups, be guaranteed upon the Board's approval. He expressed opposition to investing "a whole lot of City time ... except to coordinate what they need among City groups."

He responded to corresponding questions of clarification, and discussion ensued between the Board members and staff.

(10:15:59) Susan Haas, representing the Nevada Rural Counties RSVP, expressed support for the fair. She expressed the opinion that "tourism will get behind this because every dollar spent marketing tourism brings $3 back to the community." She acknowledged the investment, but expressed the opinion that the "return on the investment is going to be not only financial but for our community." She offered the assistance of the RSVP to recruit volunteers and helping "in any way we can."

(10:18:05) The Nevada 150 Events and Community Relations Manager Scott Carey reviewed the time line for the Nevada Sesquicentennial and advised of having been tasked with developing “150 signature events around the state.” He advised that “based on our discussions with the planning group, ... this proposed fair would very much fit [the] criteria for a signature event and would make a wonderful addition to our celebration.” Mr. Carey expressed support for the proposed fair. He offered marketing and public relations support for the proposed fair. In response to a question, he expressed the opinion that a sesquicentennial event would be very important for Nevada’s capital city. (10:20:49) Volunteer 4-H Leader Erin Lehman advised of having participated in past state fairs, and that “the kids really would love to see a state fair come back and have that opportunity.” She acknowledged the cost but expressed the opinion that “it’s going to pay itself back.”

(10:22:14) Christie Works, a UNR masters program student, advised that she is very involved in the 4-H Program and has been a member of the FFA Advisory Board. ... “from a youth perspective and from a community perspective, ... this is a really amazing opportunity for the community ...” Supervisor Bonkowski commended Ms. Works’ articulate testimony.

(10:24:24) In response to a question, Mr. Dierks expressed the belief that the same pitfalls which plagued the Washoe County fair will not “happen here ...” Deputy City Manager Marena Works explained difficulties associated with holding the state fair in the Reno Livestock Events Center and the timing of the event.

Supervisor Abowd expressed agreement with Supervisor McKenna’s recommendation that any allocation from the general fund should be reimbursed. She expressed understanding for concerns expressed relative to time tables, and agreement that “it would definitely be a time for Carson City to shine.” She discussed the economic potential of the fair, and offered to make a motion. Supervisor McKenna seconded the motion. Mayor Crowell entertained discussion. Supervisor McKenna clarified his intent that the funding can be reimbursed from “profits, ... out of Convention and Visitors budget, ... out of redevelopment’s budget. The general fund cannot afford this expenditure, but it can afford to have the money out there for a little while, adequately secured.” Supervisor Shirk commended the idea and expressed support for the motion. Supervisor Bonkowski commended the proposed event, and requested an amendment to the motion to indicate a deadline for the reimbursement. Following a brief discussion, Supervisor Abowd amended her motion to indicate that the reimbursement must be made by Nevada Day of 2014. Supervisor McKenna continued his second. "And then we'll cost all that out and look at funding sources of what might be available to fund that portion from the City. ... that'll come back to the Board, then, as our recommendation to now approve the plan, direct staff to continue forward with that, or whatever it might be or not."
